A Bowl of Comfort, Potato Corn Chowder

FROM NELL'S KITCHEN

This is a soup I love on winter days: warm, creamy and generous enough to be a meal on its own.

Serves 4–6 · Prep 15 min · Cook 30 min

INGREDIENTS

- 1 tbsp butter
- 1 tbsp olive oil
- 1 large onion, finely chopped
- 200 g smoked turkey, diced
- 600 g potatoes, peeled and cut into small, even cubes
- 500 g sweetcorn kernels, fresh, frozen or canned and drained
- 1 litre chicken broth, plus a little extra if needed
- 200 g crème fraîche
- 100 g grated cheese, such as cheddar
- Salt and freshly ground black pepper, to taste
- Salt and freshly ground black pepper, to taste

METHOD

1. Soften the onion. Heat the butter and olive oil in a large, heavy saucepan over medium heat. Add the onion and cook for approximately 5–7 minutes, stirring occasionally, until softened.
2. Add the turkey. Stir in the diced smoked turkey and cook for 2–3 minutes, until lightly coloured.
3. Simmer the vegetables. Add the potatoes, sweetcorn and chicken broth. Bring to a gentle boil, then reduce the heat and simmer, partially covered, for approximately 15–20 minutes, until the potatoes are tender but still holding their shape.
4. Add the crème fraîche. Reduce the heat to low and gently stir in the crème fraîche. Warm through, keeping the potato pieces intact.
5. Melt in the cheese. Gradually add the grated cheese directly to the pot, stirring gently until completely melted into the chowder. Keep the heat low and avoid boiling. Add a little extra broth if you prefer a looser consistency.
6. Taste and season with black pepper and salt as needed.
7. Ladle into bowls and serve hot, with crusty bread alongside if you like.

Tip

Keep the potatoes in pieces. Cut them into even cubes and simmer gently until just tender.
